REUNION 1997: New Format/Time/Location

Saturday, October 25 and Sunday, October 26. Check your calendar, and make sure that you have circled these dates for the Carey/Cary reunion. The location is the Carousel Hotel and Resort, 118th street in Ocean City, MD. The reunion will start with registration at 11:15 a.m., followed by luncheon at 12. The afternoon agenda will include a business meeting and a program of sharing and presentations of family information and research. Even though the program will conclude at 4:30, arrangements will be made for interested members of our family group to have dinner together at the Carousel. Once again, the service at Carey's Methodist Church on Sunday, October 26, will be an important part of the reunion. The service will begin at 11:15, and luncheon will follow the service.

The Carousel Hotel is a very good location for our reunion. Newly redecorated and renovated, we will have excellent facilities for our meeting, as well as attractions

W. R. CAREY, Unsung Alamo Hero

Jane Gottshall of San Jose, CA—charter member of the CAREY/CARY Family—has an interesting story she could write about William Ridgeway Carey, a historic figure at the Alamo. In the meantime she agreed that we include in the Family News a letter written by 1st Lieutenant W. R. Carey (of Baltimore), Captain of the Artillery, Volunteer Army of Texas. (He was a brother of her g-g-grandfather, John Franklin Carey.) Excerpts from his letter, written two months before his death at the Alamo on March 6, 1836, are as follows:

St. Antonio de Bexar, Jan. 12, 1836

Dear Brother & Sister,

(NOTE: Addressed to Carey's brother-in-law, Wm F. Oppelt, and written to Oppelt; his sister, Eliza Ann Carey Oppelt; and his brother, John Franklin Carey). Mailed at Nathitoches (sic) on 2/7/1836.)

To give you any satisfaction about my situation at present I should have to give you a history of Texas and the Mexican Government, but let me commence by saying that I am

Dear Family & Friends,

Isn't it amazing? About four years ago, soon after Rick Carey and I met by way of a phone call from Rick, we talked about the amount of information that he and Helen Carey--current News editor and secretary/treasurer-- had collected. Almost jokingly we talked about the need to organize a family reunion so we could share that information!

Now, after a relatively short span of time, we have had three successful reunions, we publish a bi-annual family newsletter, and we have established a network which encourages the exchange of ideas and information about our extended family. With our excellent newsletter and the computer technology which makes E-mail, electronic bulletin boards and the internet readily accessible, we are able to contact, share information with and get to know family members and people interested in the family in ways that are truly impressive. It is a real pleasure to communicate regularly with Jane Gottshall (California), David Carey (New Mexico), Marilyn Winton-Misch (Kansas), Donna Golden (Texas), Stephen Seiple (Ohio) and others who have enthusiastically shared the results of their research and other information about our family. In addition to our electronic and written communications, our annual family reunion provides an excellent opportunity to personally meet people with whom we have communicated, to share and benefit from research of different

Carey/Cary families, and to renew and strengthen family ties.

During this time, we have also established a working relationship with the Research Center for Delmarva History and Culture at Salisbury State University, which will provide a central location for the family information and records that we gather. We have started to systematically gather information and pictures from our reunions, copies of our newsletters, and copies and summaries of family research. This information will complement several existing books and information on the Carey/Cary Family as well as the extensive collection history and culture of Delmarva to be found at the Center.

If you get the feeling that I am pleased with the progress that we have made, you are right! I am also grateful for the good work and support that have made our progress possible: to Rick and Barbara Carey for their continued leadership and work; to Helen Carey for producing this excellent newsletter and for taking the lead in developing our network; to Don Ward, lay leader of Carey's Methodist Church for coordinating the special service which is such an important part of our reunion; to Barbara and Bryan Phillips for their assistance in planning the reunion; and for all of you who have continued your membership, support and encouragement. Keep up your good work--make plans to attend the reunion, encourage your family members to become a member of our family organization, and continue to send news and research items to our newsletter editor.

Stay well, and keep in touch!

Robert Carey: Successful Transition for Marking Association Executive

After an illustrious career in association management and produce marketing, family member Robrt L. Carey has made a successful transition to retirement and life in Naples, Florida. Bob retired last year as president of the Produce Marketing Association, after spending 38 years promoting and defending America's fruits and vegetables. During that time, Bob worked to bring producers and buyers together, and fostered international trade in an industry that changes with consumer eating habits.

The Produce Marketing Association, with 2,600 members and headquarters in Newark, DE, has 57 employees who are involved in research and development, promotion, education and public relations. The organization launched the "5-a-day for better health" campaign that has provided good nutrition guidelines for us all, and helped establish protocols for nutritional labeling that most of us now use routinely when shopping.

Born on a Bridgeville, DE, farm that produced strawberries, tomatoes, cantaloupes, asparagus, limas, cucumbers and bell peppers, Bob attended the University of Delaware and received a Bachelor of Science degree in 1953. After serving in the U S. Army for three years, he returned to the University, continuing his studies on the Korean War G. I. Bill. He received a Master's degree in Agricultural Economics in 1958.

Bob's father, Lee Carey, was a farmer his entire life, and was the only son of Eugene and Lillian Warrington Carey. His mother, Margaret Tull Carey, who is 87 years of age, still lives on the farm. His son, Thomas F. Carey, recently built a home on one corner of the family farm. Bob's sister, Betty Ann Carey Hardesty, resides in Bridgeville, DE.

In a recent phone conversation, Bob talked enthusiastically about living in the Pelican Bay area of Naples, FL. He looks forward to attending a Carey reunion at some point in the future.

(NOTE: Information for this article was obtained from Mr. Carey and from an article by Jane Brooks in the Wilmington News Journal).

109th Annual Session of Carey's United Methodist Camp

Don Ward, Lay Leader of Carey's Methodist Church, extends a warm invitation to members of the Carey family and others to attend the 109th annual Carey's Camp, near Millsboro, DE. The camp will start Wednesday evening, July 30, at 7:30 p.m. and will end with the 7:30 p.m. service on Sunday, August 10. Evangelistic services are held each evening, with a guest minister and special music. On Sunday, August 3 and 10, in addition to the evening service, there is a 10 a.m. love feast and Sunday school at 1:30 p.m.

You are encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity to observe and participate in a living tradition, of which members of the Carey family have been a part for many years. For additional information, call (302) 856-7530 or (302) 934-7665.

in the volunteer army of Texas. I arrived at Washington (TX) on the 28th of July. This is a small town situated on the Brazos river & there I intended to take up my final residence, but the unsettled state of affairs between Texas & the Mexican Government, I was called to the 'field'. Movements on the part of the Mexicans aroused our suspicions. They want to establish 'centralism' or rather military despotism, a government that is repugnant to the principals (sic) of free born Americans... This place is an ancient Mexican fort & Town divided by a small river which emanates from Springs. The town has two Squares in and the church in the center, one a military and the other a government square. The Alamo or the fort as we call it, is a very old building, built for the purpose of protecting the citizens from hostile Indians...

Now a little about myself. I volunteered as a private and as a private in camp was always ready and willing to discharge the duty of a soldier when called on. I was out on a number of scouts and would frequently creep up to the Mexican sentinals at a late hour when they thought 'alls well' and shoot one or two of them of a night--and Oh! my dear sister and brothers how often have I thought of you when I have been walking the lonely wood or barren fields as a sentinel exposed to all the inclemencies of the weather and suffering many privations which you can not have the least idea of. but all was sweet when I reflected on our forefathers in the struggle (sic) of liberty. about the 28th of October I was appointed 2d Lieut. of artillery and during the siege I was promoted to first on account of the first Lieut. being cashiered for cowardice he always use the word 'go' and I the word 'come' on my brave boys...

I have strayed a little from the subject. when volunteers were called for they were to form into companies and elect their officers--fifty six brave souls joined into a company of artillery and chose me for their Captain. I accepted the command and my dear sister is it possible that the once ignorant weak and fickle minded W. R. Carey should now be at the head of so many brave men as their leader--It is a fact and with his parental name. have I deserved this post of honor, its not for me to say, but the brave proclaimed it...

I must close by saying that if I live, as soon as the war is over I will endeavor to see you all. Write to brother John or send this letter to him the reason why Brother I dont write to you is I dont know whether you are in Baltimore or not and brother William & sister I am nearly certain is in the same place yet--Write to me if you please and give as much satisfaction as you can--You will direct to Wm. R. Carey, Washington, Austin's Colony. Texas and I think I will get it, you will have to pay the postage as they will not be taken out of the office in New Orleans unless they are postpaid...."

Your affectionate Brother,
William R. Carey

"Mr. Peep's Diary", Baltimore Evening Sun (4/4/1966), features William R. Carey, a native of Baltimore, as one of "the 180 or so Texas heroes who fell in the battle of the Alamo at San Antonio on March 6, 1836. The Alamo garrison in fact included only two men who had lived in Texas for as long as six years, but of all the foreign adventurers who had recently arrived in the Mexican province from the United States, Europe, and Canada, Mr.

Carey, of Baltimore, was probably the martyr who had been least celebrated in story and song ever since."

Most of us have heard of David Crocket, Jim Bowie, Alamo's commander and first casualty, W. B. Travis, and James Bonham. "...But who ever heard of William R. Carey among the Alamo immortals? Almost nobody, apparently... So who was William R. Carey? Not one of the prominent Baltimore Careys, the financiers, and abolitionists--according to genealogical sources at the MD Historical Society..." He "appears most likely to have been... William Carey, drayman, who lived on Union St. in 1833", according to a city directory for that year.

According to Walter Lord's A Time to Stand, Lt. Carey "fired a battery from the southwest wall with murderous effect during the final attack, then fell back and was, one infers, one of the last defenders to be killed in the hand-to-hand chaos."

The contents of Lt. Carey's letter--in their entirety--have significant meaning if read in conjunction with a study of the events at the Alamo and preceding actions in the Republic of

BREECHES, BLANKETS AND BOTTLES

Breeches, Blankets and Bottles: A Story of an Oil Pioneer, Nathaniel Cary. Stephen B. Seiple of Dublin, OH, forwarded to the Cary/Cary Family a copy of this brochure, published in 1983 by the Venango County Historical Society, Franklin, PA. In addition, he sent comprehensive descendancy information for the family of Nathaniel Cary (his own heritage).

Seiple writes that the "...brochure assumes that Nathaniel is the oldest son of Nathaniel Cary of Mansfield, CT. Page 97 of Seth Cary's book, John Cary, the Plymouth Pilgrim (1911), states that Nathaniel died in the Revolutionary War in 1777. However, some Connecticut records indicate that Nathaniel was discharged in 1780. The author of the brochure (i.e., Ruth R. Heasley, g-g-g-granddaughter of Nathaniel Cary) believes that Nathaniel did survive the war, moved to PA, and is the Nathaniel mentioned in Seth Cary's book. If she is correct we can indeed trace our Carey/Cary ancestors back to the Plymouth Colony. If she is incorrect, then we do not know who Nathaniel Cary's (of Venango Co.) parents were. Perhaps some of your readers might have some information about this Carey/Cary line..."

Seiple's g-grandfather was Nathaniel Culbertson Carey of Mercer Co., PA, himself a grandson of Nathaniel Carey—the pioneer oilman and tailor about whom the brochure was written.

The Careys/Carys from western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio previously held an annual reunion in Warren, Ohio, the last having been at least twenty years ago. It was as a result of one of those reunions that a participant put together information about Nathaniel Culbertson Carey's descendants.

Seiple hopes that some of the readers of Carey/Cary Family News may "have some information about this Carey/Cary line." (Contact: Stephen B. Seiple, 2149 Stowbridge Rd., Dublin, OH 43017. E-mail: sseiple@compuserve.com)

NETWORKING... the Carey/Cary Way

Carey/Cary researchers live in various parts of the United States, and exchange family information by phone, fax, mail, and, increasingly, E-mail and Internet bulletin boards.

Your News Editor uses these various means of communication to 'network' with other Carey/Cary researchers, with a mutually beneficial outcome.

Since the formation of our Family some three years ago, a number of descendants have provided information about their particular Carey/Cary ancestry. As a result, the Family has accumulated documentation which is valuable to our members and to others.

The information shared by our Family members about their particular heritage has been a particularly good resource for networking—and not necessarily found in any library or research center.

In the next newsletter the Editor intends to feature this developing source of Carey/Cary information in our second Networking article.

Currently some fourteen Family members have forwarded family information to the Editor. The latter hopes that other members will follow their example.

So—to do your part as a Carey/Cary descendant—please send a copy of your family ancestry—at least from about 1920 back as many generations as you have identified.

If you have not been involved in researching, another useful option is a copy of 'birth and death' pages from your Family's Bible. (Contact the Editor for further information about how to

PICTURES OF FOUR CAREY BROTHERS TO BE EXHIBITED

Thanks to the perseverance of Alvin Carey and the enthusiasm and assistance of James Stewart (Administrator, Delaware State Museums) and Dr. Barbara Benson (Executive Director, Historical Society of Delaware), pictures of the four Carey brothers from Delaware who served in the Civil War will be on display after August 1 in the Delaware History Museum's current exhibit, Delaware in the Civil War. [The museum, located at 504 Market Street, Wilmington, is open Tuesday - Friday, 12 noon to 4 p.m.; Saturday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission is free and group tours may be arranged. For further information, call the museum at (302) 655-7161].

In previous issues of this newsletter, we featured information about the four brothers—provided by Alvin Carey, g-g-g-grandson of one of the brothers. Briefly, two of the brothers were killed in action and a third brother later died as a result of wounds received in battle. After reading the story of the four brothers in our newsletter, James Stewart located pictures of the Carey brothers, contacted Alvin with news of the find, and later provided him with copies of the pictures. After reading about the Delaware History Museum's Civil War display, Alvin and Niel Carey discussed the pictures with Dr. Benson, who made arrangements for their inclusion in the exhibit.

proceed in this task!)

Eventually much of this information will be included in the Carey/Cary Collection at the Research Center for Delmarva History and Culture.

The Editor will look forward to receiving your family information in the mail or by fax or E-mail—hopefully by December 1!

such as a skating rink and swimming pool. The Carousel is on the beach, which in itself will be an outstanding attraction. For those who wish to stay at the Carousel, we were able to get an excellent room rate of $49, single/double. Ocean front rooms will be available at $79, single/double.

The new format and time came about as a result of suggestions and recommendations made by those who attended last year's reunion. Many people felt that an October date would be much better, because September is a very busy time for many people—going back to work after vacations, getting children settled into school, etc. The shorter program format will permit individuals to enjoy the area, to visit towns or locations of interest to family members, to meet informally to become better acquainted, to share information, or to simply relax and enjoy being with the family.

Make your plans to attend the reunion NOW! (Registration form, page 5)
